The KSE-100 eased 0.20% to 170,425.62 on Monday, its third straight close below the 24 July low of 171,021.20 - about 0.35% under it - leaving the index roughly 9.08% below the 6 July record and 1.46% above the 14 September correction low, with the 173,518.81 level abandoned on 8 September about 1.78% overhead. Foreign investors were net sellers of PKR 99.23m (USD 0.4m); local investors were net buyers of PKR 99.23m. the internals read as a market drifting on thin participation, its volume and its direction pointing different ways. The tape was 421m, the lightest since 17 September, and 278m of it traded in advancing names against 132m in declining ones - more than two to one the wrong way for a down session, the third time in five sessions that volume and the index have disagreed. The advancing size was the refinery complex and the band tape: CNERGY's 62m at +1.06% and PRL's 24m at +1.31% as the sector swept higher, TISL's 60m at +7.6% and TRG at the limit, while the declining side was thin and concentrated in the power names, NCPL's 13m the heaviest of it. With breadth at 181 to 267 and the index engines - banks, cements, power - all lower on small prints, the day's gain in volume belonged to names that do not move the index and the day's loss in the index came from names that barely traded. After Wednesday's PKR 547.44m foreign net sell, the heaviest since 11 September, the foreign ledger went quiet - a PKR 17.68m net buy on Thursday and a PKR 32m net sell on Friday - leaving Monday's flows the open question.

Outlook

- Three straight closes below the 24 July low: Monday's 0.20% slip to 170,425.62 leaves the index about 0.35% under 171,021.20, roughly 9.08% below the record and 1.46% above the correction low - a market that has spent seven sessions - every close since 18 September - within 0.75% of the level it reclaimed and lost again last week.
- The refinery complex has turned up once more - a 2.04% clean sweep, its third in six sessions, on CNERGY's 62m and PRL's 24m - but on the lightest tape since 17 September and with the index engines lower, the pattern of the past fortnight says the complex leads the tape and not the index.
- Volume and direction have disagreed in three of the last five sessions - up-volume ahead on Monday's down day, down-volume ahead on Tuesday's and Friday's up days - the signature of a market where the speculative fringe carries the size while the index-weight names drift on small prints.

What to watch

- Whether 171,021.20 is reclaimed - Monday was the third straight close below the 24 July low, about 0.35% under it, with 173,518.81 about 1.78% overhead and the correction low of 167,970.65 about 1.46% beneath
- Whether the refinery complex extends - a 2.04% sweep higher on CNERGY's 62m and PRL's 1.31% after Thursday's 4.15% sweep lower and Friday's split, the third sweep higher in six sessions
- Whether foreign flows stay quiet - after Wednesday's PKR 547.44m net sell, the heaviest since 11 September, Thursday and Friday netted a PKR 17.68m buy and a PKR 32m sell
- USD/PKR, SBP rate signals and the global crude tape
